School Finances Discussed in Executive Session; Mesa School Now Bailey.

The gentle breaking of the news that the building fund of the schools was depleted-or that at least what was left was spoken for, according to purchasing agent F. E. Sawyer—brought an interesting meeting of the school board Monday night to a sudden close. Adjournment was followed by a call for an executive sension for the purpose of dectoring up the depleted building fund, and some other things which were not given out for publication.

Holidays Start December 20.

It is probable that the teachers of the schools will receive their salary for December before Christmas, as will the colice and other employes of the city. The Christmas vacation in the schools will begin on December 20 and end on lanuary 6.

The November Deficit.

The deficit for the month of November, according to the report of Mr. Sawyer submitted to the board, amounted to $16,985.54. The surplus for

The deficit for the month of November, according to the report of Mr. Sawyer submitted to the board, amounted to $16,955.54. The surplus for October 21 was given at $21,781.18. The deficit taken from that amount leaves the balance on November 30, $1,795.64. The report shows the building fund on December 1 with a balance of $1,795.65. The total expenditures for the month were given at $17,102.34. less total revenue, $123.80. For five months this year the expenditures were rendered at $57,671.59, with revenue 7or the same period being given as $65,587.23.

Revolutionizing the high school system was broached by Dr. E. H. Irvin, president of the board, who advocated giving more education that met the requirement of individual cases. He stated that he thought the academic courses in the high school could be cut down one-half by not making the preparation of students for college courses the whole thing.

Would Eliminate Two Languages. If anything had&to be cut, W. C. White, a member of the board, advocated leaving out the French and German and giving more Spanish.

N. R. Crozier, superintendent of the school board a treatise on that subject. He cited the instance of a student in the high chool, who, when he graduated in J. mary, would step into a position th would pay him $75 a month for the high chool whereby the boy who could not afford to go to college would be made a carpenter or a mechanic right in school, so that when he graduated he would be able to earn his living from the start. Dr. Irvin favored the pran of preparing students only for the University of Texas, saying that the school was good enough for anyone.

Mess School Name Changed.

The board held its last meeting at the Mess school Monday night, for henceforth the school is to be known as the Bailey school, named over the objection of J. E. Morgan and F. B. Simmons. In honor of Mrs. B. B. Bailey, who devoted the name of the school had been previously proposed by Herman Andreas. Mr. Morgan said that he was opposed to naming the schools after any living change the name, and Simi forgan voted against it. Dr. Irvin did not vote.

Superintendent's Report. Superintendent's Report.

The report of superintendent Crozier for the scholastic month ending November 22, showed an enrolment in the different schools of 5326, an increase of 273 over last year at the corresponding time. The grand total of the average belonging was given at 4799, an increase of 254 over that of last year. Mr. Crozier reported that the additional grade had been opened at the San Jacinto school. The lack of desks, he said, prevented the opening of a grade at the Alamo school and thought now it would be advisable to wait until the opening of the second term to open the
